Coloma Community Schools purchases licenses of Plato Learning Software

Job Skill Technology, Inc. (JST) announces an agreement with Coloma Community Schools for the purchase of district wide licenses of Plato Learning Software.

Coloma Community Schools will now initiate a district-wide implementation of PLATO Learning curricula. Initially, the program will be delivered in two buildings – one secondary and one elementary – with plans to roll out the program to the rest of the district. JST, Inc. is assisting with installation and training to ensure a successful implementation. Coloma selected award-winning PLATO Learning curricula and JST, Inc. after successfully running a pilot program at the high school. Coloma Schools and JST, Inc. have been instructional technology partners for three years, successfully improving student achievement.
